

Global Hot Spot: The Aries New Moon on April 11, 2021

Dateline April 9, 2021: The Aries New Moon on Sunday April 11 at 10:32pm EDT (7:32pm PDT) can make an extraordinary impact in your personal life and for all of humanity. You can read more about this powerful solar-lunar convergence in one of the two calendar entries below as well as tune into the following day when the asteroid Juno makes a halt in the heavens in Sagittarius to begin a retrograde cycle. These entries are part of the Astrology Cosmic Kalendar (now an App available for iPhones and Android Phones) that I have been creating since 1981 and which is about to celebrate its 40th anniversary in June.

It is noteworthy that the New Moon placement at 23 degrees of Aries is in a close, harmonious trine of 120-degrees to the 24 degree Sagittarius position of Juno. Furthermore, in the horoscope for the New Moon calculated for Washington, D.C. the asteroid Vesta in Virgo is extra strong by being close to the Midheaven at the top of the chart while the far-distant planet Sedna at 28 degrees of Taurus is exactly setting and closely opposite President Joe Biden's Sun-Venus conjunction in late-Scorpio – which, in turn, is being activated by the Rising Degree at the New Moon in our nation's capital. The New Moon placement itself is within 2 degrees of another far-away planet Eris at 24 degrees of Aries – which has been embroiled in an ongoing series of tense squares with Pluto in Capricorn.

Important Note about “Dangerous Storms” in the Psychic Atmosphere of Humanity:

If national and international events develop in connection with this Aries New Moon and accompanying Juno* station warranting greater explanation and analysis, I will provide more information on our website. There is also an approaching and potentially volatile Mars-Juno polarity developing at the Aries New Moon that will become precise on April 13 and both celestial bodies are igniting the Uranus discovery placement at 24+ degrees of Gemini (from March 13, 1781) which is also when Mars opposed Uranus with the Sun squaring both Mars and Uranus – making what’s called a T-Square triangle energizing the zodiacal areas around 24 Gemini-Sagittarius-Pisces. Forewarned is Forearmed, so goes an old adage in the field of astrology.

*Juno has many sterling and admirable qualities and archetypes, but when it manifests in a negative manner then rage by the disempowered, terrorist acts as well as atmospheric storms can manifest. Juno and Eris are almost precisely trine at the Aries New Moon and while most trine alignments of 120-degrees are considerable “favorable,” this particular link-up could contain very challenging qualities. Therefore, the events in and around the solar-lunar convergence will provide the answer of whether this Juno-Eris interaction is resourceful or detrimental.

Cosmic Kalendar Entries for Sunday April 11 and Monday April 12, 2021

Sunday April 11 Strange forces are definitely on the prowl. Not only is the New Moon — energizing 23 degrees of Aries at 7:32pm — important in initiating the next 4+ weeks of the solar-lunar cycle, but several other potent sky configurations are present. Leading up to the New Moon are a dicey, 45-degree link between Venus and Pallas Athena

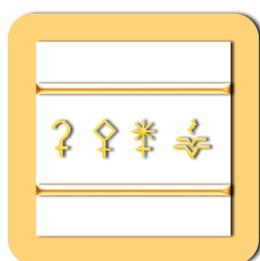

(2:04am), the Sun forming a subtle and yet still imagination-enhancing, 30-degree tie to Neptune (4:11am), the monthly lunar convergence with Mercury (1:47am) and Ceres (1:44pm), Mercury contra-parallel Neptune (1:47pm), plus a rare and potentially revelatory Uranus-Pluto connection (10:12am) known as a Bi-Septile aspect of 102+ degrees arc. To top it all off Venus squares Pluto (8:22pm) — a frictional, 90-degree alignment that acts as a reminder to be as kind-hearted as possible and avoid stoking emotional fires that may be hard to extinguish. With this mesmerizing array of celestial explosions going on throughout the psychic atmosphere of humanity, you still need to be on your toes and ready for anything as the asteroid Juno is virtually motionless and poised to make a halt at 3:14am on Monday to go retrograde. [Note to readers: All times are calculated for Pacific Daylight Time. Be sure to adjust all times according to your own local time so the alignments noted above will be exact for your location.]

Monday April 12 As indicated in the calendar entry yesterday, the asteroid Juno halts its direct motion (3:14am) at 25 degrees of Sagittarius to go retrograde until August 2. The Juno archetypes are strong all-day, so look over the following list to see the major themes to work with to the best of your ability – peace and harmony, fairness under the law, beauty, style and fashion, and especially empowerment in primary partnerships (that can either work for or against you). If you focus attention on creating open, honest, balanced and respectful relationships, that is certainly a major step in the right direction. However, if many of your lifelines with dear ones have been stifled or afflicted in one manner or another, then a lot of repressed rage can come out when Juno is motionless. While the emphasis on working creatively with the various themes connected to Juno is front and center right now, the monthly union of the Moon with Venus in Aries (5:08am) offers an additional surge of fiery self-confidence regarding love bonds, the arts and money-making endeavors. However, once the Moon and Venus merge their influences, the lunar orb enters a void zone until the Moon shifts into earthy Taurus (10:45am). Now it's time to put your green thumb to work in the garden or pursue favorite activities in the great outdoors. Re-invigorate your physical fitness regime. Being persistent with the Moon in a fixed, power sign like Taurus makes eminent practical sense, but it's wise to cast stubborn attitudes overboard. [Note to readers: All times are calculated for Pacific Daylight Time. Be sure to adjust all times according to your own local time so the alignments noted above will be exact for your location.]
